

The Oil Sands Leadership Initiative (OSLI) is a collaborative network of companies who have come together with a vision to lead the oil sands industry in the responsible development of Alberta's bitumen resource by taking demonstrable action to improve the environmental, social and economic performance.

The five founding companies are: ConocoPhillips Canada, Nexen Inc., Statoil Canada, Suncor Energy Inc. and Total E&P Canada. Alberta Environment, Alberta Energy and Sustainable Resource Development participate in OSLI as observers.

The OSLI structure includes a Steering Committee, a Management Committee, and Executive Director and four active Working Groups: Land Stewardship, Water Management, Technology Breakthrough and Sustainable Communities. Through these groups, OSLI keeps a "laser focus" on performance improvement.

On April 16th, 2010 the five OSLI companies signed a Charter, formally creating OSLI and committing to a mandate to improve oil sands industry's reputation by demonstrating and communicating environmental and social and economic performance and technological advancements.
